Excerpt: ...have been blefled with a gofpel minifter.of their own: Upon thefe occafions, he would go to them, and give them the fubftance of the.jth of the.Romans, or what was found fitteft for the.purpofe; fo that now, feeing the madnefs of thefe their foolifh ways, they have much abandoned them, and come to a better mind. The forefaid fays, He never faw them make a grave or bury their dead on the odd day of the year. Alfo, out of a groundlefs (tho' fupeiftitiops) fancy, that their children will live by baptizing them on Sa lunday. turday, they did it all then; yet they fee it has not the wifhed-for effect: which cuftom is now alfo done away. Alfo, lately, the minifter having approached the grave nearer than his ufual, he efpied one of the tenants ufing fome fuperftitious motions, which he took not heed to, untill he took up a fpade, and lifted as much earth out of the grave, as would fill a child's hand or fiti, and did fpit a little in the-grave, and threw in the little quantity of earth he had on the fpade into the grave; all which he did the fecoiad or third time. All the reafon he had from him or others was, that they are obliged to do it for antiquity or cuftom's fake. As for their religion. Mr. Martin fays, they are chriftains, in his book printed 1698, page 82. much of the primitive temper, neither inclined to Enthufiafm nor Popery; And they leave off working after twelve o'clock on Saturday, as being an ancient cuftom delivered down to them from their anceftors, and gono more to it till Monday morning. And page 83. He fays, they believe in God the Father, Son, and holy Ghoft, and a ft.itc of future happinefs and mifery; and that all events, whether good or bad, are determined by God; they ufe a fet form of prayer at the hoifting of their fails: They...
