A Glimpse of Heaven: The Near-Death Experience in Science, Medicine and Religion John C. Iannone
The Near Death Experience of thousands of people (NDE), both in modern times and in historical records of all religions, have given us a fascinating glimpse of the life awaiting us after life on Earth. Most people who have experienced an NDE find the experience so beautiful and "ineffable" that they cannot adequately express it. They find it beyond human words. Mr. Iannone gives a careful analysis of the NDE from those who have experienced it first hand and from modern medicine, science, history and religion. John C. Iannone is a Christian writer, lecturer and filmmaker. He has written The Star of Bethlehem: The New Evidence and The Mystery of the Shroud of Turin: The Case for Authenticity. He holds a Masters Degree in Religious Studies from the Catholic University in Washington and has done additional studies at Fordham University Theological; Union Theological Seminary and Columbia University in New York City.
